Dear Sir/Madam,

Ascension Island is a small island in the mid-Atlantic Ocean.

It has no indigenous population. It has a population of ± 900.

Legally there are strict restrictions on any imports/exports of psychotropic substances. Only psychotropic substances – e.g. Diazepam and Temazepam are imported for medical use at the hospital.

Occasionally, doctors give Temazepam tablets to passengers who have a phobia of flying. No more than 4 tablets are given to patients for their flight which includes return flight. A signed note by the doctor accompanies the patient for such a prescription.

Statistics of imports/exports are submitted annually to your office in Venice.

Yours faithfully,

S.J. Sukhtankar, FRCS,
Senior Medical Officer,
Georgetown Hospital,

Ascension Island Government,
